... We will now
end the ceremony.

You've all done well
this past year.

DO NOT MIRROR

It's been six months since we saw Hana off.

Time rushed on, seasons
changed and now it's winter.

We're doing just fine.

Project Si Woo Swe was completely terminated.

The United States started to ask a lot of questions after the founder died, so the upper management decided to destroy all the data, ending the project.

The Seoul branch finally gained some form of peace. Nevertheless, everyone began to walk their own paths, completing their missions individually.

However... Branch manager, Mr. Bong-nam, was considered MIA. We held a funeral for him a couple of days ago.

Miss Oh Min-kyung decided to stop being a government agent.

Now, she's studying to become a real teacher.

Eun-ah unni got transferred to the same branch Ji-won oppa was in.

It's an agency supporting heroes, but unni hates working there because she's under Ji-won oppa.

And Sung-tae...

regained his memories that day.

Well he didn't get all of it back,

*Longmanga &

but his memory came back little by little as time went by.

However...

he still can't remember Hana.

In the summer,
I purposely dragged him to the beach.

I also tried some close body contact that seemed to help a lot with his memory.

I didn't gain much from that one though.

But...

I decided to take things slowly for now.

Be it in the past,

or the coming future,

we'll love and hope for a better tomorrow.

We'll be together, so it'll be all right.
